CULVER ON TRIAL

Embezzlement Case Heard in City Court

JAMES BUTHLER TESTIFIES

That Culver Retained Some of Company's Money

The time of the city court was occupied yesterday with the preliminary hearing of W. W. Culver, in which he attempted to explain to the court the conditions leading up to his arrest on the charge of embezzlement by his former employer, the Farmers Grain and Live Stock association. The forenoon was taken up with the state's evidence and the defense was not all in when court adjourned last night.

The first witness for the state was the man who caused Culver's arrest, James Butler, the secretary and general manager of the company. He stated that Culver had been placed in charge of all the business of the association when appointed agent of the company, June 11, 1902, and that he had remained in charge until December 31st of the same year. He said that Culver had entered a contract with the association in which it was stipulated that while he had charge of the company's business he should engage in no other business. He said that Culver had been authorized to draw on the association's account at the Topeka bank for the amount of $100,000 as capital, and that he had drawn $75,000 of that amount. He stated that when Culver gave up the position as agent for the association at this place he turned in to the company about $5,000, but admitted that he himself had drawn upon the office here for the amount of $750 a few days prior to December 31st. He explained why the books of the company showed that the company had been doing a losing business by saying that it had been decided to reorganize and increase the capital stock and that it took considerable money to organize and get the business in operation in the entire field.

Butler stated that the association had agents buying and consigning grain in their own names, because some firms would not handle the co-operative association's business, but denied that he had authorized Culver to do so, or that he had authorized him to handle grain in the name of the Culver Cereal company. He testified that the report of Culver's business done in the Wichita office arrived while the association was holding its annual meeting in Topeka, December 30, and that it was considered incomplete and unsatisfactory. He said that until November 1st he did not know of the existence of the cereal company, and that until that time the business between Culver and the association had been satisfactory.

Judge S. H. Allen, who stated that he had been employed by the association to go through the books of Culver, was the next witness placed on the stand by the state. He identified a check for $42.54 drawn by Culver as agent of the association, and traced it through the books as having been made in payment on freight car No. 2052, and found out of some number assigned to A. Gould, of this city, but found no entry showing that the freight had been returned to the credit of the association. Witness stated that he believed that A. Gould had some connection with the Culver Cereal company, but did not know just what that connection was. He read a letter from Culver in which he said that the $42.54 was retained by the entry of $41.66 in the bank book, showing that amount of money deposited to the account of the company, but witness showed that the latter entry came from the account of the Frisco railroad, where the freight on one car had amounted to that much, and where the railroad company was charged with it and afterwards credited with it when it was returned.

Check for $107.77 identified and traced to be freight on three cars, either sold or consigned to A. Gould, city, but none of this had been returned, so far as witness was able to find from the books. Letter of February 24, 1903, from Culver, was identified in which he stated that the $107.77 was against the Culver Cereal Co., and stated that there were other items, each of which was named, which were owing to the defendant.

Identified check for $50, dated November 3, 1902, said he was unable to find any entry in the books showing it had been applied. Nothing in the account with the Culver Cereal company to show where it had gone. Agent had told witness that it was given to pay a Culver Cereal company check that had been "turned down."

Late in the afternoon Culver took the stand and in turn attempted to explain the charges made by the state's witnesses. He stated that he had entered into an arrangement with Mr. Butler while the latter was in the city in November, whereby he was authorized to handle grain in the name of the Culver Cereal company, and stated that the reason for this was that several buyers in Kansas City would not accept consignments from the association. He also named Florence Alexander, Mr. Culver's stenographer, was placed on the stand, and testified that she had overheard the conversation in which Butler had authorized Culver to handle grain in the name of the Culver company, and to conduct a business on the side when it was necessary. She stated that Butler had visited the Wichita office and had gone over the books of both the Co-operative association and the Culver Cereal company.

Culver was recalled and was handed the

DOUBTFUL RUMORS.

And Still Scores of Wichita People Accept Them as Facts.

The published statement of some stranger, residing in a far-away place may be true enough, but it is generally accepted as a doubtful rumor. How can it be verified? The testimony which follows is convincing proof because it comes from a resident of Wichita.

Mrs. J. B. Moore of 418 Walnut avenue, says: "When I went to the Moore Drug Co., 218 East Douglas avenue, for Dr. Doan's Kidney Pills, I had been suffering for a year for a burning pain in the small of my back and the back for dizziness and floating specks in my vision. I was never contented to my bed, but I often felt like taking to it. If Doan's Kidney Pills had not produced unshaken benefit I never would have recommended them personally to a friend of mine; neither would I publicly state that they are the best preparation I ever tried." checks identified by Judge Allen. He stated that the accounts did not appear on the association's books because on the order of Mr. Butler he had only sent in statements of the deals for the association. He testified that Butler had said that he would call for the statement of the Culver Cereal company when he wished to see it.

Culver was still on the stand when court adjourned until 9 o'clock Monday morning, when the case will be taken up again. Blake & Ayers represent the defense and the state is represented by County Attorney Eckstein.

C. W. YOUNG DIES SUDDENLY.

Did Not Recover From Surgical Operation.

C. W. Young, traveling freight agent of the Frisco died at St. Francis hospital at 6 o'clock a. m. yesterday from an operation for peritonitis.

He was taken ill on Friday and from the start his case was very violent. He decided that the only hope lay in an operation and he was removed to St. Francis hospital. The operation failed to save his life and he died as above stated.

C. W. Young was one of the most popular employees of the Frisco in this city. He was about 25 years of age and every inch a railroad man. He was born in Topeka from which place his parents moved to Colorado Springs. When quite young he secured the position of messenger boy in the general office of the Santa Fe at Topeka. He worked his way up and was made private secretary to General Manager Younkum of the Frisco. He held his position until failing health demanded a change. He was then made traveling freight agent for the Frisco with headquarters in this city.

He and John Spear, head clerk in the joint railroad office at the stockyards, were warm friends and ever since coming here he has roomed at the home of Mrs. Wm. Spear, 65 North Topeka. The men in the Frisco offices were all broken up yesterday over the news of Mr. Young's death. H. C. Conley, commercial agent of the Frisco said that C. W. Young was one of the best men he ever saw. He said few men ever accomplish so much in so short a life.

Mr. Young's mother is expected here later.

TEN DAYS' SALE

The Boston Store Offers a Rare Opportunity for Buyers of Dry Goods.

SALE OPENS MONDAY MORNING.

Mr. W. T. Emory, Agent for Eastern

Mills, and Owner of the Emory

Mill Remnant Sale, is Here in Charge.

Mr. W. T. Emory, the famous "Mill

Remnant" man, who has achieved a national reputation as the originator of an idea that has resulted in placing before the people of the large cities at regular intervals the opportunity to buy the best products of the textile mills at mill prices, is stopping at the Hamilton. Mr. Emory will inaugurate his mill remnant sale in the Boston Store Monday.

The entire stock will be turned over to the control of Mr. Emory, and two weeks' labor has been expended in preparing the stock for the inspection of those who wish to take advantage of this rare chance to get first-class goods at manufacturer's prices.

In the first place it is necessary to understand the real significance of the term "mill remnant" as applied to these sales.

First, none of the textile mills have yet discovered a plan to avoid making remnants.

"There has never been a loom made yet," said Mr. Emory last night, "that would invariably make a perfect weave cloth. The mill remnant comes as the result of this imperfect weaving. If a piece of cloth, say fifty yards, is being woven, the operator cuts out the imperfectly woven place and the good piece left goes to the remnant pile, the piece being one yard, five yards or ten yards. None of these slight flaws make any difference to the user, but it prevents the mill or factory from selling the goods at profitable prices. The great mass of mill remnants secured for this sale consist of new goods direct from the loom, and are offered at 'mill cost.' None of these cloths can be sold by the manufacturers as full pieces, as they are wanting in length.

Mr. W. T. Emory represents the United Mills Surplus and Remnant company of New York and Boston, which controls the remnants of the big mills in the manufacturing districts of the East. Among these are the Mohawk Valley mills, the Fall River mills, the New Bedford mills and the North Adams mills. The products of these mills are secured at the actual cost of manufacturing them and are placed directly before the people at prices that make it impossible to resist the temptation to buy. There will be something new to be seen every day. It will be profitable to buyers to visit the Boston Store every day the sale is in progress. During the sale Mr. Emory will be in complete charge, and will have a corps of capable assistants.

BUYS GOOD RESIDENCE.

E. E. Whitlock Purchased Home on North Emporia.

E. E. Whitlock has purchased the Iowa Watson property, No. 414 North Emporia avenue, of B. T. Garfield and E. Oldham who were the co-owners of the estate. The sale was made through the Hartford Western Land Co., and consideration was $2500. Mr. Whitlock will rebuild the house and put it in first class shape. This property was a great bargain. H. M. Burfield has sold through same agency his property on Bittling avenue consisting of an eight room house and a hundred feet of ground, with beautiful shade, fruit trees and on lot line. Rev. W. S. Vall was the purchaser and the consideration was $2400. This was an exceptionally good purchase since Mr. Burfield had improved the place for a splendid home, and the house was nearly new.

Tired Out Women

I can truly say that Wine of Cardui is a wonderful medicine for women. I suffered for many years with female trouble in various forms and tried so many different remedies without relief that I got tired and thought I was to be in poor health to the end of my days. I read so many times about the women who had been benefited through the use of Wine of Cardui that I determined to try it as a last resort. The first bottle made me feel much better and stronger and I did not get up every morning with a long bitter and stronger feeling, so I kept on taking it. It grew to be a habit and I was well and strong and since then I have been regular and have not had to go to bed each month as heretofore. In fact, I could not get with for better health than I have now. I am happy to testify to the merits of Wine of Cardui for the life of women.

Women should know that a continually worn out feeling and severe periodical headache indicate dangerous trouble and serious weakness. Bearing-down pains, ovarian troubles, irritation and other symptoms of female weakness wear on the nervous system, making sleepless nights and drowsy, fretful days. This wearing on weakened nerves produces the worn-out feeling and nervous headache.

If you get up in the morning feeling all tired out, if you feel nervous and suffer from headache or backache you need Wine of Cardui, that great medicine which cures Mrs. Lewis.

With Wine of Cardui within your grasp to-day, health may be yours. You can soon be a perfectly well woman. Ask your druggist for a $1.00 bottle to-day.

In cases requiring special directions, address, giving symptoms, "The Ladies' Advisory Department," The Chattanooga Medicine Co., Chattanooga, Tenn.
